

Pop-Ups

One of the biggest issues with our websites seems to be pop-up blockers. Occasionally a customer will call and say they can't view the options under the Product Gallery: "Click on image for larger view of sample." "Click here to see an example of this product in use."

If your computer has a pop-up blocker, a bar will appear across the top of the window that will say:

"Pop-up blocked. To see this pop-up or additional options click here..."

There is an option to temporarily allow pop-ups and one to always allow pop-ups on that particular website. Many people don't see the bar – maybe because it's not a pop-up!

From experience, I certainly understand how irritating pop-ups can be. But, on many websites, you'll miss a lot of vital information if they're blocked. Help spread the word! There's nothing wrong with your computer or our website! In some circumstances, pop-ups really are OK!
